FURTHER VIOLATION OF MANCHURIA BORDER IS ALLEGED

20 Soviet Infantrymen Penetrate Territory

Tokyo, July 26.
A fresh incident in which further violation of the Manchukuo border was alleged to have occurred was reported in Japanese despatches shortly after the receipt of news in Tokyo of the safe return of the two messengers.

Twenty Soviet infantrymen and 30 cavalrymen were reported to have penetrated into Manchukuo territory in the vicinity of Shaopaling Hill near Hunchun yesterday but were driven out by Manchukuo guards. Exactly how they were ejected was not stated.

News of the return of the messengers was completely eclipsed this evening by long accounts of the fall of Kiukiang the report of which was first spread by extras and sold by Japanese newsboys who, in traditional fashion, ran through streets with bells jingling.

Although likely to evoke the usual Japanese and Manchukuo protests no great importance is attached to the latest incident while the prospects of an amicable settlement of the Changkufeng affair looms even brighter with the report from Hsinking that Manchukuo was prepared to consider the establishment of boundary commissions "if this is formally proposed by Japan." "CANTON HAS EVEN ECLIPSED GUERNICA"

OUR HUNGRY CHILDREN

Yesterday, just before 5 p.m. a Chinese coolie, carrying a tray of rice and some Chinese dishes, slipped at Jardine's corner, opposite the Post Office. The rice and the other articles of food were strewn all over the gutter.
About four or five Chinese newsboys and girls soon collected round the "mess" and, picking the food up proceeded to eat it.
Quite a number of people looked on, including a police constable, but nobody stopped the children from eating the rice.
And we thought an anti-cholera campaign was in progress in Hong Kong!

"Japanese Air Force Stands Convicted On Unimpeachable Evidence"

Shanghai, July 26.
"THE TRUTH IS THAT CANTON HAS EVEN ECLIPSED GUERNICA," said Mr. Hessel Tiltman, special correspondent of the London Daily Express, when he arrived in Shanghai from Canton.
"It is something which never should be permitted to happen and, unless the world is rushed to destruction, it must never be permitted to happen again."

"I recall with gratitude the kindly and charming Yamato neighbours among whom I lived in Japan and whose courtesy and hospitality is an impressive and unforgettable thing."

The responsibility for these mass murders of the civilian population of China, belongs to the High Japanese Command and not the half-grown educated youths that are given powerful aeroplanes with orders to destroy everything that comes in their way.

Although the Japanese claim that Canton is heavily fortified with anti-aircraft batteries, these batteries unfortunately existed only in the Nipponese reports.
Mr. Tiltman added that no one would have been happier about their actual existence than the Cantonese civilians.

"Whatever the objective of the Japanese Air Force in Canton it stands convicted on unimpeachable eye-witness evidence of criminal negligence amounting to mass murder in the first degree." (Reuter).

TOWARDS GOAL OF PEACE

British Proposal To Send Adviser To Prague

Paris, July 26.
The British initiative in proposing to send the former President of the Board of Trade, Lord Runciman, to Prague as adviser and arbitrator in the minorities question, and the Czech action in accepting the offer, is welcomed here since the opinion was general in the political circles that Prague's Nationalities' Statute would not be accepted by the Sudeten Germans and that a new crisis was imminent.

It is believed that Britain's action at the eleventh hour may save the situation.

Le Matin expresses the opinion that Berlin approved Britain's action on the condition that it is to precede the resumption of the Anglo-German negotiations. The paper predicts that the negotiations in Prague will now lead to a "honourable settlement" since all interested parties are determined to come to a reasonable settlement.

Le Jour declares that in accepting the British proposal the Prague Government has taken a decisive step towards the goal of peace, and the Petit Journal states that England has now accepted the role of a referee and will lead the negotiations to a successful conclusion. (Transocean).

NO FRENCH ADVISER TO PRAGUE

Paris, July 26.
Rumours current in Paris political circles that France would likewise send an adviser on the Nationalities problem to Prague were denied by the Quai d'Orsay last night.
It is added that dispatching of a French adviser was out of the question but that, of course, the French Government would be informed through London on the activities of Lord Runciman. (Transocean).

New Japanese Conscripts Not Healthy

Hankow, July 26.
A large majority of the new Japanese conscripts have been found to be of poor health and many had to be sent back to Japan, according to a Shanghai dispatch to the Siao Tang Pao, well-informed local daily.

Japanese army surgeons are unable to cope with the situation, adds the report, and have cabled to Imperial Headquarters in Tokyo for instructions. (International).

FATHER JACQUINOT'S ARRIVAL IN S'HAH EAGERLY AWAITED

Car Mishap In Western District

WASP CAUSES ACCIDENT

HILLSIDE DROP

A wasp was the cause of a motor mishap in the western district of the Colony yesterday afternoon.

This is how it happened, according to a report made to the police.

A rather new saloon car, public vehicle No. 266, was being driven by Tse Sun along Victoria Road from Aberdeen in the direction of West Point when a wasp lodged on Tse's eye.

Tse Sun lifted up one hand to drive it away but in so doing the vehicle swerved to the left side of the road and went down the hillside, a drop of about 40 feet.

The car was wrecked but Tse fortunately escaped with only a slight cut on his forehead.
The accident occurred about 3 p.m.

Successful Lecture Tour In The United States

Shanghai, July 26.
The sensational reports circulated here yesterday when it was discovered that Father Jacquinot, the noted instigator of the Nantao Refugee Zone, had failed to arrive aboard the Empress of Asia were found to be without foundation at a late hour yesterday evening.

In reply to an inquiry by Father Verdier, Procurator of the Jesuit Mission here, Father Jacquinot sent a message from Kobe stating that he unavoidably missed the boat-train to Nagasaki but would continue on to Shanghai as soon as possible.

When the Empress of Asia arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning, Mr. M. A. Jaspas, a member of the Nantao Committee, and others were on hand to greet Father Jacquinot and were rather surprised to learn that he was not on board.

Officers of the liner stated reassuringly that there was no reason to worry about Father Jacquinot as numbers of travellers in Japan recently experienced similar difficulties due to the fact that train schedules were held up because of repairs made to the tracks damaged by the floods.

Father Jacquinot is expected to arrive in Shanghai on the Nagasaki Maru tomorrow. His arrival is eagerly awaited by all those interested in refugee relief work anxious to hear of his splendid success in the United States in raising funds to carry on the Nantao Zone and similar projects.

It is understood that he raised in the neighbourhood of G$700,000 during the course of a lecture tour which attracted widespread interest. (Reuter).

DR. STRAHAN'S APPEAL IS DISMISSED

Sequel To Conviction And Fine For Dangerous Driving

An appeal brought by Dr. S. Sergin Strahan, of Alexandra Building, against his conviction and a fine of $50 imposed by Mr. H. R. Butters at Central Magistracy, on a charge of dangerous driving in Lockhart Road on May 26, was dismissed by the Acting Police Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, in the Supreme Court yesterday.

Dr. Strahan was represented by Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Deacons, and Mr. J. Whyatt, Crown Counsel, appeared for Traffic-Inspector S. C. Saunders.

After the appeal had been dismissed an application for reduction of the penalty was also refused.

Opening the appeal, Mr. Mackinlay submitted that there was not sufficient evidence on which the Magistrate could find the conviction.

The evidence in the present case did not allow the Magistrate to come to the conclusion that there was danger. It was not denied that appellant was driving at 36 miles per hour, but it was only six miles per hour more than the limit. Such a speed was not dangerous, said Mr. Mackinlay, and there must have been something else that influenced the Magistrate.

PULLING OUT

What Dr. Strahan had done was to pull out to pass cars in front. The natural thing to do in those circumstances would be to go over the crown of the road on to the wrong side in order to avoid the cars which were being passed pulling out.

Inspector Saunders himself was doing 40 miles per hour in his own car, and must have been keeping an eye on the traffic on the road as well as watching the appellant's car, and he could not therefore have been in a better position than Sergeant Fryer, who was with him, to see what was happening.

Sergeant Fryer, in his evidence, had stated that appellant had pulled over the crown of the road, which might be only a foot or over the centre, and if this had been the only evidence adduced, it would have disposed completely of any charge of danger. The extra six miles per hour on the right hand side of the crown of the road would involve such an increase of danger as to justify the conviction.

Mr. Mackinlay submitted that before he could convict on the evidence given, the Magistrate would have to disregard Sergeant Fryer's evidence of the position of the car, and accept that of Inspector Saunders.

SECOND POINT

His second point in the appeal, said Mr. Mackinlay, was that a question was allowed which would show that Dr. Strahan had in the past committed the offence of dangerous driving. It arose from cross-examination by Inspector Saunders and constituted that whole of that cross-examination.

The question put was how many times Dr. Strahan had overturned his car previously. There was only one reason for putting that question and that was to suggest that appellant had driven so dangerously as to overturn his car.

MAGISTRATE'S NOTE

The Magistrate must have had some doubt about allowing the question, as he had made a note of his reasons for allowing it in the depositions. It was essential that no questions should be asked to show that a driver, had in the past been guilty of dangerous driving.

It appeared that the grounds on which the Magistrate had allowed the question were that Dr. Strahan had given evidence of good character in that he had said he was an experienced and careful driver. That was not evidence of character, but merely Dr. Strahan's reasons for pleading not guilty. He had never suggested that because of his experience he would not drive dangerously.

Mr. Mackinlay submitted the question was inadmissible and the conviction should be quashed.

His Lordship asked whether the imputation in the question asked suggested that Dr. Strahan was a reckless driver.

Mr. Mackinlay replied that he could not frankly see any other reason for asking the question. Dr. Strahan had been driving for 35 years, and must therefore be an experienced driver.

CROWN REPLIES

Replying for the respondent, Mr. Whyatt dealt first with Mr. Mackinlay's remarks as to the Magistrate's doubts in allowing the question owing to his having made a note of his reasons for doing so. Magistrates had been from time to time criticized for not putting down their reasons for allowing questions, and if the Magistrate had not put down his reasons, he would have called forth more criticism.

His Lordship remarked that it would be going too far to say the Magistrate had doubts. All that the appellant could say was that the Magistrate had considered the propriety of it.

Driving at 36 miles per hour on the wrong side of the road was evidence of dangerous driving.

Mr. Whyatt went on. There were side lanes coming into the main road. It was also a built-up area where a speed limit was imposed. It was not disputed that there was a long line of traffic ahead of the appellant or that there were a large number of pedestrians about. The only dispute counsel could see between the evidence of Dr. Strahan and that of Inspector Saunders was the reason why appellant was driving at such a high speed, which was that the doctor was in a hurry to attend an urgent case at the French Hospital.

His Lordship remarked that many years ago, a similar excuse had been made to him by another doctor, and his Lordship had then said it was not worth endangering the lives of several persons in the doubtful hope of saving one.

APPEAL DISMISSED

After Mr. Mackinlay had made his final submissions, His Lordship, in dismissing the appeal, said: There is clearly sufficient evidence to justify the Magistrate convicting as he did. The question of need not necessarily have any bearing on his finding that there was sufficient evidence. The conviction is upheld and the appeal dismissed.

Mr. Mackinlay asked if his Lordship would consider reducing the fine, but after hearing Mr. Whyatt read out appellant's driving record, which showed that he had been fined $15 for reckless driving in Caine Road in 1927, $10 for driving without due care and caution in Stubbs Road this year, and $10 on the present offence, his Lordship said he saw no reason to interfere with the Magistrate's penalty.

ALLEGED THREAT ON WAITRESS

Further evidence was heard before Mr. Lockhart-Smith at the Central Court yesterday when three men, Li Chun, Fung Lam and Ng Kwong, appeared on remand on charges of threatening a waitress, So Pat, 21, with intent to induce her to become a member of a society and demanding money with menaces with intent to steal.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks appeared on behalf of the first defendant and Mr. J. M. d'Almada Remedios for the second and third defendants. Detective Sub-Inspector Ritchie was for the prosecution.

A Chinese detective yesterday testified that he was in the Asia Cafe where he saw complainant hand over money to the defendants. He overheard the conversation between the parties, and arrested the defendants as complainant had just left the cafe after having handed over the sum.

YOUNG GIRL ON OPIUM CHARGE

Fines totalling $850 or five months' imprisonment were imposed by Mr. Butters at Central Court yesterday on a 17-year-old girl, Lo Li, when she was found guilty on charges of possession of 10½ and 15 taels of raw and prepared opium respectively.

Defendant was arrested on information received at Hong Lung Street. The drugs were strapped to her legs.

Detective Sergeant Whelan prosecuted.

CEMENT COFFIN MURDER RIDDLE

Heiress's Husband Accused After Girl's Discovery

The arrest and arraignment of John Paul Bathelt, 28-year-old dapper husband of a reputed Park Avenue heiress, launches a new and eerie murder mystery upon America's attention. It is labelled "The Cement Coffin Murder Case," and the facts are these:

Recently a group of girls on a church picnic were swimming in a river not far from Northampton, Massachusetts, when they came hurriedly from the water and told of a floating bundle from which a skull was protruding.

The police found the bundle contained the remains of a body which, from the trousers belt bearing gold initials, they tentatively identified as Charles Morris, a racehorse owner, who disappeared last year. Close to the place where the body was brought ashore the police observed an empty summer cottage, locked and heavily boarded.

They broke in. On the kitchen floor were stains and traces of hurriedly mixed cement. The cellar and garden yielded unmistakable evidence that the body of a man had been encased in concrete buried and later dug up, extracted from the concrete and taken away.

Inquiries of the cottage owner showed that Bathelt had been in possession of keys to the place since 1936 and that he formerly associated with Morris in race-track enterprises.

Road Lessons For Singapore Children

Singapore school children are to have their own book explaining traffic dangers shortly.

Published in Singapore, and entitled "Safety First," it has been written by Mrs. B. L. Milne, of the Malayan Education Services, and after its first edition it will be translated into Malay, and probably into several vernaculars.

Road congestion in Singapore has for long proved a menace to children unable to realise the danger to which they are exposed.

School entrances have been well looked after by the police but the training of school children to understand road rules and traffic signs will no doubt bring about a much better state of affairs.

The book will contain lessons on the expansion of traffic sense, rules for lorry drivers, and how children should regard them, rules for motor-car drivers, and also lessons on model work, which will bring in manual training as well as mental.

'AWAY FROM IT ALL'

Tired of books and ledgers, Mr. Harry Ramskill twenty-seven, of Park-avenue, Hull, has given up his good job as secretary to go roaming. First destination, is Kanderstag, Switzerland, where he will be a guide for three months. "I can't stick office work," he said.

What Price Life? Judge Asks Jury

How much is life worth? Lord Hewart, the Lord Chief Justice, asked in the King's Bench Division recently. And he answered his own question thus:

If a man were asked in cold blood what he would take to submit to a violent end he would say there was no such sum.

"It is not merely that there is no sum large enough, but that the mind recoils from such a problem."

Lord Hewart was speaking of "the infinitely various incidents of life."

His Lordship said that before 1934, the law gave a right to dependants of a person killed in an accident; to sue the negligent party for damages which would represent the pecuniary loss they suffered from the death of that person.

That act still existed, but upon it had been superimposed another law, the Law Reform (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1934.

Lord Hewart explained that, stripping the Act of its legal technicality, it meant that, although a man was dead, there nevertheless remained, not indeed for his own benefit—which was not possible—but for the benefit of his estate, all causes of action vested in him.

"LIFE A PRECIOUS THING" In this case there was a young man approaching his twenty-second birthday. He was an all-round sportsman, with every prospect of a long life.

That prospect had been put to an end and the loss had to be assessed in terms of pounds sterling.

And against it had to be assessed the chances and changes of that uncertain thing called life.

"Life was a precious thing to be parted with only very reluctantly."

"All I can say is, Here are the provisions of this Act and I ask you, to exercise your duty in the spirit of moderation and restraint and assess what you conceive to be a fair sum."

The jury awarded £2,000 to Mr. Frederick Walton, of Senhouse-road, Maryport, Cumberland, against Mr. John Averall Jacob, of Alderman's-hill, Palmers Green, London.

That sum, they held, represented the loss the estate of the plaintiff's son, Frederick Jordan Walton, twenty-one, had suffered because of the shortening of the expectation of his life.

He died as a result of a collision on Stags Hill, Enfield, in September, 1937, when as a cyclist he was involved in a crash with Mr. Jacob's motor-car.

THEIR MISTAKE

"Now we're all going to join in singing No. 7 in our song book," the Master of Ceremonies told delegates to a convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Niagara Falls.

The delegates rustled the pages of their books, then gasped.

The song was: "There's A Tavern in the Town."

They tried another song.

DROVE CAR ALONG CLOSED ROAD

A Rohrke, of Courtland Hotel was fined $8 when he pleaded guilty to the summons before Mr. Butters at the Central Court yesterday for driving a motor vehicle along a closed road on July 9.

Passenger Robbed Of Spectacles While Travelling On A Bus

A seaman, Li Wing, 42, was given four months' imprisonment without the option of a fine, when he was convicted on a charge of larceny from the person of Mr. Lo Tse-shou, of a pair of spectacles and case on board a bus on July 2.

Chan Ying, 25-year-old widow, who was convicted on a charge of aiding and abetting the theft and possession of a watch, was fined $100, in default, two months' imprisonment.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo pleaded not guilty on behalf of Li Wing, while Mr. H. A. de Barros Botelho appeared for the defence of the widow, Det. Sergeant J. Bentley conducted the prosecution.

It was stated that about 9 p.m. on the day in question, Mr. Lo boarded a bus near the China Wharrior, and when nearing the China Building, the two defendants came up. Li went and sat at the left of the complainant, and Chan was standing. On nearing the Wanchai Market, all the passengers in the second class compartment had alighted.

The second defendant then sat beside complainant on the right and they were pressing hard on him. Suddenly Mr. Lo felt a jolt and he discovered that his case and spectacles were missing. He noticed first defendant holding the article and he then called out "pick-pocket."

A European gentleman who was in the first class compartment came over and assisted the complainant in handing the defendant over to a constable.

Up A Fortune

Faith means more than fame or a coronet to Brother Peter Hubert Gordon Gilbey, the 23-year-old Benedictine monk who has become heir to the ancient peerage of Vaux of Harrowden.

"It will make no difference at all to me. I propose to continue my training for the priesthood," he told me at the lovely monastery of Ampleforth, in the Yorkshire hills, recently, writes a Home correspondent.

"I have still two years of training before I become a priest. At the end of that time I shall still remain a member of the Benedictine community," he added.

RENOUNCED WEALTH
Mr. Gilbey is known at the monastery as Don Gabriel. He said he entirely approved of the petition which his mother, the Hon. Mrs. Grace Gilbey, had successfully made for the Barony of Vaux of Harrowden to be determined in her favour.

"But should the title descend to me I shall not leave the Roman Catholic Church," he said.

In his decision to renounce the world Don Gabriel was guided only by his own desires. Wealth was his for the asking, but he preferred the seclusion of life as a monk. Peter Gilbey has been a student at a Roman Catholic college at Oxford for six years, a friend told me.

"Every holiday, instead of going to his mother's home at Wellingborough, he went to Ampleforth, where, in cowl and habit of a Benedictine monk, he lived the normal life of the Brothers," the friend said.

"He is a studious young man, clever and strong-minded. If he says he will keep to his chosen path he certainly will not swerve from it."

If he is unable to reconcile succession to the barony with his church work it is expected the title would descend to his brother, John Hugh Philip Gilbey, who is a year younger.

HOWLERS' FOR THE HOLIDAYS

End-of-Term exams before the summer holidays have brought a new crop of school-boy howlers.

Here are some—from the Heriot's Journal of the George Heriot's School, Edinburgh:

"Shylock was a very clever man and one of his best points was his respect for his wife when he said: 'I would not change her for a wilderness of monkeys.'"

"Lieutenant is the man who helps the sergeant-major to keep the army in order."

"Take away that bauble" was said by Walpole with reference to the South Sea Bubble.

The Queen
Becomes
"Isabel"

Children were asked by the newspaper Paris-Sohr to write what they knew about King George and Queen Elizabeth to mark their three-day visit to France.

These were their answers to some of the questions:—

What is the King's name? Answers included Stanislas, George II., Philippe VI., Guizot III.

What is the Queen's name? Some said Marie Antoinette, others Charlotte Isabel and Marie.

How many children have they? Most were correct here with two. Several said "Six boys and six girls," and one child wrote, "Two girls—Alizabete and Marguerite."

What is England?

Six specimen answers: "A country where there are many ships." "A town very important for the French." "An island in the Arctic seas of the north." "A big British island." "A Pacific island," and "An island formed like a boot."

Why are the British our friends? Most replied "Because they fought with us in 1914." One boy said: "The English were once our biggest enemies. Now, if we were weak they would not be interested in us. But they feel that we are strong."

Old Lag Will Be Allowed
To Spend Christmas
Outside Jail Walls

FOR SAKE OF HIS WIFE

For the sake of his wife, who expects to become a mother in December, an old lag with a "terrible record" will be allowed to spend next Christmas outside jail walls.

He told Southend magistrates that he had spent 14 of the last 16 Christmases in custody.

Frederick Chatterley, aged 53, has been married only ten months.

Already serving a six months' sentence for theft, he appeared in Southend police court on a Home Office order, recently, and pleaded guilty to two charges of larceny.

REAL FRIEND

In a statement to the Bench he said, "I told my wife of my record after we were married. Like a real friend she said she would stick to me, and try to make a man of me."

"She is the only one in this world who cares for me and she is about to become a mother. That has made me see the light."

"Please help me to come out for Christmas. I would like to be out just after our baby arrives."

A list of 21 previous convictions was proved against him and the presiding magistrate said he had never seen such a terrible record in 30 years' experience.

They sentenced Chatterley to two months only on each charge, to run concurrently with his present sentence which will expire on December 10.

HOTEL MEETING

Chatterley and his wife first met when they were working together on the staff of a Westcliff-on-Sea hotel.

"He was very persistent," Mrs. Chatterley told a reporter. "If I went out anywhere I would find him waiting for me; if I went to a cinema he would be waiting outside."

"In the end I married him. I am afraid it would have made a difference if I had known about his conviction, but I am prepared to give him another chance."

Asked if she was still in love with him, she said, "I am afraid love dies after a thing like this, but maybe it will be revived for I like him very much indeed."

TWO BOY
SMOKERS
EXPELLED

Two Poole Grammar School (London) boys, reported to the headmaster for smoking out of school and offered the choice between a public flogging and expulsion, refused to take a flogging—and were expelled.

They were to have sat for their Oxford School Certificate examination a week later.

The boys are Roy Lloyd, aged sixteen, of Raven Oak, Hermitage-road, Parkstone, and Ronald Rigler, aged seventeen, of West-street, Poole.

Roy told a representative that he was walking along the street, smoking, and was seen by an assistant master.

"I was not wearing the school cap or tie at the time," he said. Ronald Rigler told the Sunday Express representative that he was smoking a pipe in the presence of his father.

Mr. Rigler described the whole thing as nonsense.

The headmaster said: "I gave the boys the choice of taking a thrashing and making a promise to behave themselves in future, and gave them a whole morning to think it over."

"When they told me they had decided to leave I pointed out the consequences."

Mr. L. T. Yuan has accepted the invitation of the Shanghai Municipal Council to fill the vacancy on the Council caused by the resignation of Mr. W. Gockson.

Screaming Woman In The Commons

With shouts of "Give us our freedom, we want justice," a woman in brown interrupted the proceedings of the House of Commons recently for some minutes and put up a terrific fight with officials who tried to eject her from the gallery.

M.P.s gasped and stood up in amazed amazement to watch the contest.

With one blow of her fist, the woman stopped a detective, and then she skillfully dodged two attendants.

Off went her hat, and garments began to part company from her body as she tried to free herself from the struggling stalwarts.

Eventually, after a fierce exchange of blows, the woman was swept off her feet and bundled out of the gallery, still kicking and fighting.

She was detained by the authorities through the remainder of the session.

Singapore Students Told "Room For Still More Doctors"

Dr. R. B. MacGregor, addressing Medical College students at the King Edward VII College of Medicine, recently, told them:

"In spite of the slumps and anxieties of the present time, there is still room for doctors and dentists graduated from this college."

"There are places waiting, for more men than this college can turn out, but it will be our future practice to allow more students to sit for the examinations."

"Up to the present time there are 400 unqualified dentists practicing. In the course of the next few years it is expected that they will all drop out and that their places will be taken by men from this college."

Fourteen students were presented with diplomas for medical and dental surgery.

Dr. L. W. Evans, principal told the students that he considered it was advisable to give Graduation Day a little more ceremony than was the previous practice, and that students who had passed their graduation should be presented with their certificates with appropriate ceremony instead of having them sent by post.

Dr. MacGregor also said: "A development which I wish to mention is the new hostel for women students, which was opened last month. It provides accommodation and facilities for students here and in Raffles College."

What The Stars Are Doing

M-G-M's British plans include a P. G. Wodehouse comedy for Robert Montgomery and "National Velvet" with Spencer Tracy.

Chester Morris may play the part of Houdini, world-famous magician, in a screen biography.

Boris Karloff will do a Technicolor sequel to "Dr. X." In the first version, five years ago, Lionel Atwill played the maniac doctor.

Robert Douglas, has joined the cast of "Over the Moon." He plays the part of a foreigner whom Merle Oberon meets on her money-spending tour of Europe.

Warners are trying to persuade Kate Smith, the plump radio singer, to play opposite Rudy Vallee in "Gold Diggers in Paris." Kate Smith appeared on the screen in the 1932 "Big Broadcast" and "Hello Everybody!" She was not then very pleased with her screen performance.

Columbia has engaged a surrealist painter to do twelve mural paintings for an elaborate bedroom set in "There's Always a Woman." Melvyn Douglas and Joan Blondell are the stars.

Zoe Akins is adapting "Frou-Frou," one of Sarah Bernhardt's most famous plays, for the screen. Producer Merian Cooper wants Louise Rainer to play the Bernhardt part.

James Dunn has been married to Frances Gifford. They met last October when both were playing in "Living on Love."

Peter Bull, an English actor, is playing Louis XVI's blacksmith friend in "Marie Antoinette." Bull is a friend of Robert Morley, who plays Louis.

Marjorie Main, Humphrey Bogart's mother in "Dead End" will play landlady to Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in "Test Pilot."

CONCERN OVER HINDRANCE TO BRITISH INTERESTSANGLO-JAPANESE PACT MAY BE TERMINATED

London, July 26.

The lack of consideration of the Japanese authorities in China and the consequent inconvenience caused to British trade interests in the Far East formed the subject of several questions in the House of Commons yesterday.

That the British Government had given some consideration to the question of terminating the Anglo-Japanese Treaty of 1911, insofar as it affected the importation of Japanese goods into British Crown Colonies, unless the Japanese Government was prepared to show greater consideration for British interests, was revealed by Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in answer to a question by Sir John Haslam (Conservative).

"The matter has received some consideration, but the Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, is not in a position to make a statement at the present time," said Mr. Butler.

HARBOUR DUES

Replying to a further question Mr. Butler said he had now received a report from the British Embassy in Shanghai regarding discrimination in favour of Japanese commercial shipping in the matter of payment of harbour dues there.

Lord Halifax had been informed that Japanese commercial vessels were now following the recognised Customs procedure and were paying the regular tonnage dues.

NORTH CHINA RAILWAYS

Answering Mr. I. C. Hannan (Conservative), Mr. Butler said that the British Ambassador in Tokyo, Sir Robert Craigie, had been in communication with the Japanese Government with regard to the proposed reorganisation of railways in North China by the Japanese.

A reply had been received from the Japanese Government, asserting that the reorganisation had been carried out in order to secure maximum efficiency in view of the damage done to the lines and the flight of many railway employees.

The Japanese Note proceeded to declare that it was not the intention of the Japanese Government to infringe British rights and interests.

DANGEROUS SALIENT BEING CLEARED UP

Insurgents Follow Up Victory At Estramadura.

Salamanca, July 26. Following yesterday's victory on the Estramadura front, where fighting has broken out after almost 12 months of inaction, the Nationalists are clearing up a dangerous salient in which, it is reported, 5,000 Republican troops are trapped.

The Government headquarters at Don Benito is said to have been captured.

Reports from Valencia officially admit that the Insurgents have advanced in the Don Benito region but add that Republican troops have counter-attacked successfully near Amposta, on the eastern front, where the River Ebro has been crossed in two places.

Many prisoners were taken, and the reports.—(Reuter).

BOMBS ON ALICANTE AND MADRID

Paris, July 26.

Five bombers attacked Alicante yesterday, dropping about 40 large bombs. Five persons were killed and 40 injured.

Extensive material damage was caused, at least 25 houses being completely demolished.

According to other reports here, eight persons were killed and 67 injured during a heavy bombardment in Madrid yesterday.—(Transocean).

BRITISH PLAN

London, July 26.

The Spanish Government's reply to the British plan for evacuation of volunteers is expected to arrive in London in the course of today.

The reply in which the Government declares that it accepts the plan under certain conditions, was handed to the British envoy in Barcelona, Mr. Leche, on Saturday.

The reservations made will, it is declared here, be examined by the Non-Intervention Committee. The reply from General Franco is not yet forthcoming.—(Transocean).

PUPPET CURRENCY

No formal reply has been requested from Japan to the British representations regarding the embarrassment suffered by British trade in North China by the imposition of inconvertible paper currency by the Japanese-controlled Federated Reserve Bank, said Mr. Butler.

The British Government, however, is replying to the Japanese Government, requesting that it refrain from measures which have the effect of freezing credit facilities.

CONTROLLING EXPORTS

Replying to Mr. A. E. L. Chorlton (Conservative), Mr. Butler said that he had received a report from the British Consul-General in Tientsin, disclosing that all wool stocks in the interior had been registered by the Japanese.

A permit is now required before these wool stocks can be removed, the Consul-General had reported. However, so far there had been no specific instance of a refusal to permit the export of wool.

The export of hides and skins from Tientsin was temporarily prohibited as from July 1, Mr. Butler disclosed.

REPRESENTATIONS MADE

Representations have been made to the Japanese Government by the British Ambassador in Tokyo, and I now understand that the embargo is being lifted except as regards certain skins of special quality, which, it is stated, are required by the Japanese Army," Mr. Butler said.

Sir John Wardlaw-Milne (Conservative), asked whether the Government was aware that a prohibition actually existed, in addition to the embargo, because the Japanese prevent any railway freight being available for British

Attempt To Shoot Governor

New York, July 26.

A radio message picked up from San Juan, Porto Rico, by the Associated Press, says that an attempt was made to shoot Major General Blanton Winship, Governor of the U.S. dependency, yesterday.

The attempted assassination was made during the celebration at Ponce in commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the landing of American troops during the Spanish-American War.

The Governor was not injured.—(Reuter).

FATHER JACQUINOT IN OSAKA

Hankow, July 26.

It is learned from well-informed circles that Father Jacquinet, Chairman of the International Relief Committee and founder of Nantao refugees' zone in Shanghai, is in Osaka. He did not board the s.s. Empress of Asia for China, as previously planned.—(Central News).

Mr. Butler stated that he would certainly investigate the point.—(Reuter).

BRITISH ADVISER BEING SENT TO PRAGUE

Prague, July 26.

It is officially confirmed that the British Government has taken the initiative in proposing to send Lord Runciman to Prague in an advisory capacity.

The proposal is being examined by the Czechoslovakian Government and, although an official decision has not yet been announced, it is understood that the Government has decided to accept with gratitude the British proposal. An agreement to this effect will probably be made today.

It is pointed out that such an acceptance would be in accord with the attitude of the Czech Government, which not only shows a desire to reach an understanding with the Sudeten German minority, but welcomes advice and suggestions made by the British and French Governments from time to time.

Both the British and French Governments admitted that concessions made by Czechoslovakia must be within the framework of the Czech Constitution, and the authorities in Prague are confident that Lord Runciman will find that the Czech Government is prepared to go to the limit in making concessions consistent with national security.

Parliament has been convened for August 2, but it is understood that the Nationalities proposals will not be submitted until they have been thoroughly discussed with the Sudeten German and other groups.—(Reuter).

LORD RUNCIMAN'S MISSION

London, July 26.

From authoritative British quarters it is learned that Lord Runciman's mission will be to attempt to mediate between the Sudeten Germans and the Prague Government in order to arrive at a compromise.

Should this fail, Lord Runciman has been empowered to pronounce an award.

NON-AGGRESSION PACT REPORT DENIED

Prague, July 26.

The official Czechoslovak Press Bureau denies a report published by the London Daily Express which asserted that the Czech Premier, Dr. Hodza, is prepared to conclude a 10-year non-aggression pact with Germany, in which Czechoslovakia would pledge herself not to allow the passage of Soviet troops through her territory.—(Transocean).

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

COL. HOLT ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB

Experiences In Abyssinia

Col. H. B. Holt was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon meeting yesterday when he told of his experiences in Abyssinia. Mr. L. C. F. Bellamy presided in the absence of the Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan and in addressing the gathering he said that he had one task to perform which was not at all a pleasant one, namely to bid goodbye to Rotarian J. K. Paton who was shortly leaving on transfer to Cairo. On behalf of the Club Mr. Bellamy wished Mr. and Mrs. Paton the best of luck in their new sphere of life.

Mr. Paton replied briefly and said that he was very sorry to be going away after four years in Hong Kong. He had made a lot of friends at the Rotary Club but he had one very great satisfaction—he had seen the Hong Kong Rotarians playing "big lantern, small lantern" (Laughter).

COL. HOLT'S ADDRESS

The President then said that as the speaker was so well-known to members he would not go through the formality of introducing him but would just call upon Col. Holt to give his address.

Col. Holt said: Whilst I was Military Attaché to the British Legation in Abyssinia I spent some months at Dessie where the Emperor, Haile Selassie, had established his headquarters. While there I had time to observe the people of the country and their medieval customs.

Abyssinia has been described as an inverted Switzerland because the inhabitants instead of living in the valleys, live on the mountains tops—really plateaux of between 7,000 and 10,000 feet, almost devoid of trees. The reason for the inversion may be summed up in the word "mosquitoes" and most of the villages were placed on knolls not, I believe because the Abyssinians connected the mosquito with fever but because their ancestors had taught them to avoid fever by getting a draught.

I said the plateaux were almost devoid of trees. It so happens that about fifty years ago a policy of planting Blue Gums was instituted to produce fuel and hence the woods round Addis Ababa which gave cover to the native warrior were nothing more nor less than the city's fuel supply.

JUST AS BARE

The inhabitants were officially called Ethiopians but if you asked an individual what he was you would have found that Ethiopians were as rare as Britons. Spot names occur in newspapers, books and the vocabulary of the official and the foreigner and, just as most of us are English, Scotch, Irish, Welsh and so forth, so with the Ethiopian. He just told you the name of the Kingdom he came from but if pressed he probably said he was a "habashi" a word from which the name Abyssinian is derived and means mixed blood. The official preference for the name Ethiopia is probably connected with a desire to retain the Biblical association with King Solomon.

A DOUBTFUL HONOUR

On my arrival in Dessie I was accorded the doubtful honour of a guard but there was a good reason because the Emperor knew that his subjects could not designate between one white man and another. To the peasant I was as much his enemy as an Italian and I once had reason to be grateful when one of my bodyguard intervened when some Ethiopians rushed at me with shouts of "Italian!"

EVOLUTION PREFERRED

The Ethiopian peasant had his faults and was decidedly primitive according to our standards—but that can and could be rectified by education. Much had been said about slavery among these people. The Emperor recognised the necessity of getting rid of the evil but it was a reform which could not be done by a stroke of the pen. Some alternative Poor Law system would have to replace it. It was a choice between evolution and revolution. Rightly or wrongly the Emperor chose the former method.

One of his difficulties was that he placed his faith in the League of Nations. A step, I fear, he now regrets; and if there is any lesson to be drawn from his experience, it is a re-statement of that Roman adage—"Si vis pacem, para bellum."

MR. J.C. DUNBAR

Dies On Way Home

News was received in the Colony yesterday of the death, at sea, of Mr. J. C. Dunbar, formerly of the Hong Kong Electric Co., Ltd. The deceased was travelling to England on the s.s. Ranchi in company with Mrs. Dunbar, the former Miss Pat Dimond.

Son of the late William Roland Dunbar, of Hulton, Cheshire, and Mrs. Oswald Tidy, the late Mr. Dunbar was 39 years of age and was married only in November of last year. He suffered a breakdown in health and only left here as recently as July 9.

Mr. Dunbar saw service with the Royal Air Force during the Great War as a subaltern and came to Hong Kong in 1925 when he joined the Hong Kong Electric Company.

He was extremely popular with his colleagues and was a keen member of the Hong Kong Cricket Club besides being a member of the Hong Kong Club and the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club.

A member of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, the relinquishment of his commission in the A.A. Company was gazetted two days ago.

The late Mr. Dunbar is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Tidy, and a sister, the Viscountess Scarsdale with whom much sympathy will be felt.

LOCAL GERMAN HONOURED

Herr Martin Hess, leader of the National Socialist Party Group in Hong Kong, has been awarded the Cross of Merit of the German Red Cross Society.

The award has been made by the German Red Cross Society in recognition of Herr Hess' services in aiding German and other refugees and evacuees from China.

A similar decoration was awarded recently to Mr. Christian Kroeger, of Messrs. Carlowitz & Co., for his services with the International Relief Committee in Nanking. Mr. Kroeger was in Nanking from October, 1937 to January this year, after the Japanese occupation of the city.

Mr. John H. Rahe, of Messrs. Siemens (China), Ltd., and Chairman of the International Relief Committee, has been awarded the German Red Cross Society's Cross of Merit.

FORTHCOMING MARRIAGES

The marriage is announced between Commander Hugh Valentine King, of H.M.S. Olympus, and Miss Brenda Grace Buildings, Doctor of Medicine, who is due to arrive in Hong Kong on September 9 by the Empress of Japan.

Another forthcoming marriage is that of Mr. Wong Tor-mak, of the Dairy Farm, and Miss Mary Lau.

ON WAY TO THE CHINA FRONTS

New Zealand Doctors In Colony

Among the guests at the Rotary Club meeting yesterday were Drs. T. H. Watson and G. H. Maaka, of New Zealand, who are on their way to join Drs. Grey and Tremewen, at present serving with the Red Cross units in Chengchow and Loyang.

Drs. Grey and Tremewen have been working at the front lines since March with the International Red Cross.

The two "recruits" for war service arrived here on Saturday by the s.s. Neptuna and will remain here until tomorrow when they leave for Hankow by train. They are being sent to the war areas by the Joint Council of the St. John Ambulance and New Zealand Red Cross Society.

It will be interesting to note that the latter body has so far collected over £8,000 for the purpose of maintaining volunteer doctors and medical supplies at the China war fronts.

The two visiting doctors are the guests of Mr. Alfred Morris, Commissioner of the St. John Ambulance Brigade here.

LAND RECLAMATION FOR REFUGEES

To Ease Overcrowding In Shanghai

A plan to send Chinese refugees in Shanghai or at least a portion of them to interior provinces for land reclamation work, so as to enable them to support themselves and alleviate overcrowding in foreign-controlled areas, is again under consideration by charitable organisations in the Northern port.

Between 500 and 600 refugees in Shanghai were sent some time ago to the Kee Hsui district, Kiangsi Province, for land reclamation. According to messages from that province, the result was very satisfactory, all the refugees being able to support themselves.

This time the organisations propose to send the refugees to provinces other than Kiangsi, such as Yunnan and Szechuen.

MAHJONG NOISE COMPLAINT

Mr. A. Read, of 16 Somerset Road, Kowloon Tong, appeared as complainant at the Kowloon Court yesterday when his next door neighbour, Mr. Sui Kan-wing, was summoned before Mr. Barnett.

Mr. Read complained that on dates between June 6 and July 12 his next door neighbours had indulged in games of mahjong, when they had disturbed his and his family's rest between 10 p.m. and 1.30 a.m. by shouting and the clatter of mahjong cards.

An expulsion order was made against John Mathias, 34, an electrician, by Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday.

With a view to raising funds for the relief of war refugees the Hong Kong Chinese Wine and Provision Dealers' Association for the Relief of Refugees has been formed, and the following have been elected office-bearers:

Chairman: Mr. Philip Gockchin (The Wing On Co., Ltd.).

Vice-Chairman: Mr. Chan Kam-po (C. Ah Ying Co., Ltd.).

Vice-Chairman: Mr. M. Chan Hark (China Emporium, Ltd.).

Hon. General Secretaries: Mr. K. F. Chaw (Shu Tai), Mr. Ho Pak-hoi (The Asia Co.), Mr. S. T. Tsui (Tai Loy).

Hon. Treasurers: Mr. Leung Yew (Wang Kee & Co.), Mr. C. C. Chan (French Store).

Hon. Business Secretaries: Mr. T. C. Watt (Hung Cheong), Mr. C. L. Wong (The Sun Co., Ltd.), Mr. Au Chiu (The Sincere Co., Ltd.).

Mr. Ng Kwai (Chun Cheong), Mr. Chan Yue-seung (Yuen Shing Hing), Mr. K. P. Ching (Wing Coffee Co.), Mr. Leung Cheuk-fun (Wing Fat Co., Ltd.).

At a meeting of the Association recently, at which 113 Chinese concerns were represented, the following resolution was unanimously passed and will be placed before the representatives of all wine and provision agents and manufacturing companies in the Colony:

"That for each and every transaction of $1,000 worth of goods purchased, either in cash, or on account, or ordered for future delivery, $2 (31. payable by the seller and $1 by the buyer) will be set aside for relief of refugees, commencing from 1st day of August, 1938 till the end of the Sino-Japanese hostilities."

DOCTORS URGED TO STAGE "STAY-IN" STRIKE

A suggestion that the 37,000 members of the British Medical Association should withdraw their services from the public for a limited period as a protest against the invasion of refugee doctors was put forward at the B.M.A.'s annual conference opening at Plymouth recently.

While it is unlikely that this proposal will gain much support the 1,000 delegates are expected to be unanimous in their demand for new Government safeguards, and there will be strong protests against the B.M.A. Council's agreement with the Home Office allowing "a limited number" of Austrians to practise in Britain, writes a Home correspondent.

I understand the council will be prepared to say they will urge the Government to co-operate more closely with them to control the arrival of immigrant doctors and to limit the activities of those permitted to practise.

There is one doctor for every thousand of the population in Britain. With more and more candidates entering the profession, the doctors say it will be impossible soon for all of them to earn an adequate living.

In the last few months 220 German and Austrian refugee doctors have been allowed to enter Britain to practise. The law allows them to practise—even to set up in Harley-street—as specialists—without registration and without any question of their qualifications.

At the same time, new General Medical Council regulations come into force this year which add another nine months' study to the five years which British students must undergo before they can qualify.

Father And Girls Drew Straws To Kill Son

Breaking down and crying, "How could I kill my own little boy, but I did," Harvey Nelson, hard-boiled restaurant manager, of Waycross, Georgia, confessed in court at Waycross that he plotted with his mistress, Verna Fowler, eighteen, one of his waitresses, and her friend Mary Kent, seventeen, to kill Johnnie, his son of ten for $180 insurance.

He confessed to plotting that all should watch the murder. In cold blood, he said, Verna and Mary drew straws to choose the killer.

Verna drew the longest. "So she took a pistol, went out on top of the back porch and squatted near the wall."

"When John came out of the door she fired....He fell on his face."

Nelson added that he agreed to give Mary $40 of the insurance money, and to Verna $18.

The rest—$122—was for himself.

More than 100 new factories have been opened in various parts of Yunnan Province since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese conflict, states a message to the Mei Jih Yi Pao. For the development of these industrial plants, it is stated, Government and commercial banks have extended loans amounting to over $4,000,000.

"SALVATION"

IN spite of the many declarations made by the many Japanese spokesmen about the object of the "Holy War" in China, there can be no doubt whatever regarding the real reason for this unwarranted invasion of a peaceful nation. The situation may quite easily be summed up in one word—greed.

On February 16, the Japanese Premier, Prince Konoze stated in the Diet that Japan's object was twofold—to crush the Chiang Kai-shek Administration and help in establishing a new administration which would co-operate with Japan. Another official statesman said that the reason for the war was "the salvation of the poor Chinese farmers, with the Japanese as the champions of their cause."

In view of the fact, however, that Japan's own farmers, practically half the total population, have been for many years on the verge of bankruptcy, the claim that "salvation" of China's peasantry is the aim of Japan's present campaign would be quite amusing if it was not such an insult to one's intelligence.

WE are not disputing the fact that the man on the land in China needs help, but we do dispute very firmly that he is looking to the Japanese for any help that they may be able to offer. The National Government—that same Chiang Kai-shek Administration which the

NOT LOOKING FOR HELP

Japanese are so anxious to crush—has never been indifferent to the difficulties of the peasantry. This alone should be sufficient answer to the Japanese claims that the war is being waged to bring about the salvation of China's peasantry. Out of an area of about 1,400,000 square miles (this does not include Manchuria) 340,000 square miles are under cultivation while approximately one-half of the uncultivated three-fourths of China's area is devoted to some productive use—trees, grass and reeds for fuel—while over one-fifth is in forest and some twelve per cent in pasture.

In a recent speech the chairman of the Bank of China, Mr. T. V. Soong, who is also one of the leading members of the National Economic Council, said that during the past year the Bank had continued its policy of rendering assistance to agriculture and in addition to the many short-term loans, credits of a relatively longer duration were provided. Financial accommodation was also extended to the organisations engaged in the transportation and marketing of agricultural products.

WATCHMEN IN TROUBLE

Alleged Assault On Aged Man

Li Ki and Lau Lau, watchmen employed by the Chinese Ministry of Communications, appeared at the Kowloon Court yesterday before Mr. Barnett, charged with wounding an old man of 61 years, Mok Yat.

From the witness box, Mok Yat related how on June 27 he had been at the Kai Tak Bund when Li Ki approached him and accused him of stealing two brass petrol tank covers. Li Ki led him to a hut where he was attacked by both Li Ki and Lau Lau. They tied his hands behind his back and beat him with their fists, kicked him, and lashed him with a cane. They questioned him at great length and then took him to another hut. Here another man had also kicked him.

Then Lau Lau and another younger man took him to the Kowloon City Police Station, where he was charged with stealing the petrol covers.

From the Police Station he had been sent to hospital where his condition had become critical. About ten or twenty Chinese had been brought into his ward, from among whom he had identified the two defendants.

He had left the Hospital on Monday, a week ago, against the doctor's wishes.

Further hearing of the case has been fixed for August 2.

NEW SINGAPORE BUILDING

Towering over buildings in its locality, modern, granite, spacious, a new block of offices is to be erected in Singapore.

Particulars as to its site are lacking at the moment, but architects are already busy drawing plans, making estimates for the new building. Completion is hoped for within a year.

IT will be seen, therefore, that the farmers of China have no occasion to look expectantly for Japan's armies and aeroplanes to bring them "salvation." Their own Government was working actively and earnestly to bring about that rehabilitation of rural economy which was recognised as the very foundation of China's prosperity when they had to set aside their labours to cope with the very serious problem of driving out the invaders.

The Japanese claim that the "salvation" of China is their first concern, yet it is by their own devilry that they are impeding the progress that was being made in the National Government's highly commendable efforts to bring the country in line with all the up-to-date Powers in the world.

The trouble with Japan is that she could not see China slowly but surely taking her rightful place with the leading nations in the world. That was too much for the narrow-minded Nipponese—that was why they launched this "Holy War" for the "salvation" of the Chinese peasants!

CHINA'S WAR LOSSES

China's casualty list is already more than half the British Empire's four year World War total of 3,089,757. The World War was an even match of steel against steel, but China, with little more than a wall of human flesh is withstanding the latest engines of mechanised warfare in hands long trained in their use and the results are not surprising. The fall of Shanghai, says Time, took 250,000 Chinese lives and only 27,000 Japanese: almost ten to one. In later fighting the ratio has not been so great, but Chinese losses are far greater than Japanese and if recent estimates placing Japanese casualties at over 400,000 are correct, China's losses have already passed the two million mark.

Britain's Shipping Power Lost

"We are losing our great position of being the sea-carriers of the world," declared Vice-Admiral E. A. Taylor, M.P., at a conference at the Empire Exhibition at Glasgow recently to discuss the development and defence of the Empire.

Vice-Admiral Taylor, referring to the State subsidies of shipping in many foreign countries, said that it created a problem urgently requiring solution, and should be dealt with by concerted action on the part of the Government in the United Kingdom and Dominions. British ships were up against total unfair competition.

The trade between Japan and India, for example, once almost entirely British, was now 73 per cent Japanese. That had been brought about by Japanese subsidies.

"The foreigner is ousting the British Mercantile Marine," he said. "It is a disaster and a tragedy."

"Take the particular example of the Pacific trade as indicative of the method by which our British ships are being ousted from our own Empire trade."

"Two lines are affected: the Union Steamship Company, whose ships used to ply for them have now ceased to do so—between Australia, Fiji, and San Francisco; and the Canadian-Australasian Line between Australasia and Vancouver."

"Into competition with them entered the American Matson Line, which obtained from the United States Government operating subsidies of about £200,000 a year."

"One line is already closed down, but I understand that the result of the Imperial Conference agreement has now practically been reached, which will enable this British trade route to be maintained by British ships."

NUMBER, NOT SIZE

It was the number of ships in the Mercantile Marine, and not ships of greater size, on which we must rely in time of peace, and especially war.

It was the vast numbers and efficiency of the British Mercantile Marine in the last war which enabled us, despite the loss of 7,000,000 tons of British ships, to carry that gigantic struggle to a successful conclusion.

Great Britain must be capable at all times of giving reasonable security to the trade routes and of despatching military reinforcements to any part of the world. The command of the sea alone could give that security.

The same was true of the Dominions and Colonies, asserted the vice-admiral. Without co-ordinated effort and mutual assistance they would fall like ripe fruit into the hands of any Great Power who desired them, and there were some land-hungry nations in the world today.

DRUG MENACE IN KOWLOON

Wong Ngau, alleged keeper of an opium and heroin den at an address at Kilong Street, was at the Kowloon Court yesterday sentenced by Mr. Macfadyen to 15 months' imprisonment with hard labour. The premises housing his den have been raided in the past by officers of the Revenue Department on no fewer than three occasions. This, evidently, did not serve as sufficient preventive publicity for Wong Ngau.

Lai Yau, alleged keeper of another den at an address on Kwelin Street, was sentenced to 12 months with hard labour.

SUNLIGHT AS CANCER CAUSING AGENT

Ultra-Violet Rays And The Skin

The effect of intense sunlight on the skin in connection with cancer was described by Professor R. D. Passey, head of the Cancer Research Laboratory in the Algonon Firth Pathological Institute of Leeds University, when making his report at the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Council of the British Empire Cancer Campaign recently, says the Times.

GIRL THEY CANNOT KEEP OUT OF ENGLAND

Twenty-five-year-old Catherine Schwartz, the American girl with such determination to travel and see England that she stowed away in Atlantic liners three times, is again in England.

But this time she arrived as a passenger and her passport was in order.

Not only will she realise her ambition of touring England, but she hopes to fly round the world. Another ambition is to find an English husband.

"I think Englishmen are the most polite and courteous of men," she said when she arrived at Southampton in the Cunard-White Star liner Georgic.

MAN ASKS COURT TO CRUCIFY HIM

A man who has attracted a considerable following in Southern Rhodesia by preaching that he is the reincarnation of John the Baptist has got himself into trouble with the authorities.

Some of his doctrines are harmless, but he objects to vaccination for small-pox and taxation, and he has now been forbidden to preach.

Another man here is preaching the second coming of Christ. He dresses in a white surplice and carries a large red cross.

Several religious revivals have swept Southern Rhodesia during the past few years—the preachers and followers in each case being natives.

It is thought that the man who at present calls himself "John the Baptist" is connected with a native, who about two years ago proclaimed himself as none other than "Christ the Saviour."

FLOWING WHITE ROBES

This man was arrested with a number of followers, who were arrayed in flowing white robes. The leader was riding a white ass and carried aloft a huge "silver" cross.

When he was questioned in the Native Commissioner's Court he proclaimed that he was Christ come again, to save this time, the black people.

While the case was being heard he constantly interrupted with the request that customary court procedure be dispensed with, and that they should crucify him forthwith.

In another district a man started a religious movement, his activities eventually terminating in his spending a month in jail, but not before he had made determined efforts to convert the Native Commissioner, his staff and the entire local detachment of the Police Force.

CAUSTIC SODA POISONING

"Suicide by caustic soda poisoning" was the finding returned by Mr. W. G. Porter, the Singapore Coroner, at an inquiry recently into the death of a Chinese woman aged 60, who died on July 3, at the Tse Tock Seng hospital.

Medical evidence revealed that on admittance deceased had been extensively burnt about the mouth.

Her son, Than Sik Chuen, said that the deceased was his mother. Her name was Pank Chenx, and she was supported by the Chinese Vegetarian Temple.

She had never intimated to him that she intended to take her life, but for the few days previous to her death she had behaved in an absent-minded manner. There had been caustic soda in the house, and witness thought it unlikely that she had taken soda by mistake. He would not say whether or not she had taken it deliberately.

It was known, Professor Passey said, that seamen who were exposed to intense sunlight over a number of years developed cancer of the skin more often than other persons. The work of Dr. Roffo, of Buenos Aires, suggested that such effects were to be attributed to the ultra-violet element in solar radiation.

Rats had been irradiated with ultra-violet rays in his department at Leeds, and cancers had been formed.

Extracts had been made from the skin of these rats, and then used in an attempt to produce cancers in mice, the object of the experiment being to see if cancer-producing substances of a chemical nature were formed in the rat's skin. So far no success had attended these attempts, but the technical difficulties were great.

Speaking of heredity, Professor Passey said that it was probably true to say that until quite recently the opinion generally held by the medical profession had been that heredity played little part in human cancer. With limited exceptions, little evidence from human material had been adduced to suggest the possibility.

Recently, however, Waaler, in Norway, and Wassink, in Holland, had examined the family histories of patients suffering from cancer and claimed to have shown that in both countries the incidence of cancer on certain sites in the body, though not on all sites, was higher for some families than in the population at large.

To ascertain if the same was true in this country, Dr. Joyce Rhodes had begun an investigation on similar lines, employing material obtained from the Leeds Infirmary and the Bradford Cancer Committee.

The investigation was not yet sufficiently advanced to give any true clue as to the ultimate result.

Canadian Women Want "Equality"

Greater equality of status between men and women, and clarification of the marriage laws, have been proposed by the National Council of Women in a submission to the Royal Commission investigating Dominion-provincial relationships.

The Council asked for an amendment to the British North America Act, Canada's constitution, so that women throughout the country "may demand complete recognition of the full marriage status upon the solemnisation of a marriage by any person who has been duly authorised to perform the marriage ceremony."

The Council recalled that the Supreme Court of Canada in 1912 declared the marriage of two Roman Catholics or a Roman Catholic and a Protestant before other than a Roman Catholic priest was valid. The Privy Council, at that time ruled the Dominion Parliament did not have the power to pass a law declaring such marriages binding.

In 1921 the Privy Council held that "religious impediments only affected the private conscience, not the civil law," and confirmed the previous decision of the Supreme Court, the Council of Women said in its submission.

"Since then a Justice of the Quebec provincial Supreme Court has refused to follow these judgments," the Council added.

The Council also noted that in Quebec Province a marriage, even although annulled, is considered by articles of the civil code to be a putative marriage "if one of the parties contracted in good faith and, as such, produced civil effects in favour of the party in good faith and the children, issue of the marriage."

"Despite this fact, when the wife and children go to reside in another province after annulment, the inclination has been to consider such children as illegitimate and the parents as unmarried, although by Quebec law the children are legitimate and have a right to support and to succeed their parents."

"It is therefore expedient that the legal position of such women and their children be placed beyond doubt."

Simultaneously with the bombing of the German yacht, one French sail boat was hit. On October 19, 1937, an automobile in which the Italian Military Attaché was travelling from Nanking to Shanghai was wrecked by Japanese bombs near Soochow. Sixteen cases of foreign philanthropic, religious and cultural institutions being attacked have been recorded. Of these incidents,

Sensational Man-Hunt

MAN ARRESTED FOR MURDER

London, July 26.

The most sensational man-hunt in recent years was concluded at Sheerness today when George Brain, 27, was arrested after a ten-day search and charged with the murder of a woman whose body was found in the early morning of July 14 in "Lover's Lane" near the All England Tennis Club, Wimbledon.

The body, which apparently had been dumped from a car, remained for several days without being identified. It was then found to be that of a married woman, separated from her husband.

Brain, who was penniless, starving and unshaven when found, was given a hearty meal by the police and then taken to Wimbledon.—(Reuter).

ASSISTANCE TO CHINA

CATHOLIC BISHOP'S OBSERVATION

Kunming, July 26.

Foreign sympathy with China in her present struggle against Japanese aggression is being gradually translated into material aid.

This observation was made by Dr. Paul Yu Pin, Vicar-Apostolic of Nanking, in the course of a speech at the weekly memorial service held at the local Kuomintang Headquarters yesterday.

The distinguished Chinese Catholic leader recently returned to China from an extensive tour in Europe.

Declaring that world justice and humanity must triumph over injustice and lawlessness, Dr. Yu expressed confidence that China will emerge victorious.—(Central News).

"TAKE MORE INTEREST IN PADDI"

The urgent need for Malays to take more interest in the cultivation of paddy was stressed by His Highness Yang Dipertuan when he opened the agricultural and horticultural show at Seremban recently.

It was Malaya's staple food, he said, and all help that was possible would be given to cultivators.

"I hope to see Negri-Sembilan making advances in this direction soon," he added.

His Highness and the Tunku Ampuan were received by the British Resident.

It was stated that the entries for the show were below those of last year, but the quality was better.

"BUDDHA GIRL" EXPLAINS

Fair-haired and blue-eyed Miss Anthea Hollick, who aroused the wrath of the native population of Ceylon by publishing a photograph taken in the lap of a Buddha, arrived at Southampton in the liner Ormonde.

Miss Hollick, who has come home to prepare for her wedding to Mr. Lamont Watt, which is to take place in Colombo, Ceylon, next year, declared that any ill-feeling concerning the incident had died down.

"The whole matter is closed now," she said. "We made a mistake. There was not the slightest intention of insulting anyone's religion, and we have paid for it. We have been through the mill, and in Ceylon now everyone is satisfied."

"That being the case, I am disinterested in the whole affair, and I don't care a hoot what people in England think about it."

The Buddhist community complained of desecration in their holy city and Miss Hollick, together with her fiancé, took the photograph, was fined 1s. 6d.

JAPANESE IN SUIYUAN WITHDRAWING EAST

Sian, July 26.

A military report received here states that the Japanese in Suiyuan, who have been intending to push westward, are now effecting a wholesale withdrawal towards the east for an unknown destination.

Only small garrisons are left in Kweihsia and Paotow, important towns in the province. They are constantly menaced by Chinese guerrillas.—(Central News).

GUERRILLAS RENEW ATTACK ON KASHING

Shanghai, July 26.

Chinese guerrillas today renewed their attack on the Japanese at Kashing, in north Chekiang, on the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway. Fengking, Shihhutang and Sungkiang are also surrounded by the guerrillas.

About 2,000 Japanese soldiers left here last night by train to reinforce their beleaguered comrades in the north Chekiang area.

The recent fires at Japanese ammunition dumps in Woosung and Nantao were the work of the agents of these irregulars, about 10,000 of whom are in the vicinity of Shanghai.—(International).

PUSH FROM CHEKIANG

Hankow, July 26.

Indications that the Japanese forces in Hangchow will push in the direction of the south-west are apparent from the field pieces, poison-gas cylinders and other equipment which arrived in Hangchow yesterday.

The Japanese design is to move from Chekiang into Kiangsi, with Nanchang as the objective, to support the drive from the north after the fall of Kiukiang.—(International).

HEAVY ATTACK

Hankow, July 26.

Japanese troops this morning continued their heavy attack on Kiukiang with the object of reaching Nanchang in the south, while another column is converging on Taihu, about 50 miles north of the Yangtze River.

Chinese forces are pouring into Kiukiang and Taihu to stem the Japanese advance. They have started the counter-offensive against Kutang on the west shore of Poyang Lake.

Heavy fighting in Kiukiang was in progress early this morning, when Japanese warships, air force and troops participated in the attack. Many parts of the river town were levelled to the ground by the incessant bombardment by naval guns and aerial attacks.—(International).

DECISIVE STAGE

Hankow, July 26.

The battle for Kiukiang, which is regarded as the key to Hankow, and Nanchang, entered a decisive phase yesterday evening.

The Japanese greatly strengthened their forces west of the Lake of Poyang by landing further troops on the west side of the lake. On Monday afternoon the Japanese forces west of the lake of Poyang were estimated at more than one division. The Japanese vanguard is already fighting in the outskirts of Kiukiang. The summer resort of Kuling where a large number of foreigners are staying, now lies within the battle zone. The Japanese warships at Hukow left their anchorage yesterday proceeding upstream.

It is generally expected that the Japanese will land further troops above Kiukiang so that they can attack the city from several sides.

General Chen Cheng left Hankow for the Kiukiang front in order to take charge of the operations there.—(Transocean).

400 JAPANESE KILLED

Kiukiang, July 26.

Desperate fighting is now in progress on the eastern side of Kiukiang.

Chinese reinforcements poured in during the night and immediately made a violent counter-attack at Kutang when over 400 Japanese were slain and two heavy tanks captured. Meanwhile the Japanese are being surrounded at Crow Hill a few miles from Kutang.—(International).

Methodist Tribute To Press

NEWSPAPERS PUT WESLEY ON THE MAP AGAIN

The Rev. Enzor Walters, a former president speaking at the Methodist Conference at Hull recently praised the press when he referred to remarks made by the president, Dr. R. W. Lansdell Wardle. "I do not wish in any way to criticise the president's remarks," he said, "but I do want to say publicly that the press in this country, on the Continent, and in America and Australia is rendering magnificent help in making Wesley Day known. It was largely owing to the press that John Wesley was put once again on the map, and his conversion realised as a great, significant event."

It was decided that a special message should be issued to the Methodist people to "represent the solemn judgment of the conference" on the Wesley Day celebrations and to point out the real significance of the day to the Church.

ROYAL FAMILY AND METHODISM

A message of loyalty was sent to the King by the conference, and Dr. Lansdell Wardle, who is a preacher on the circuit which includes the Sandringham estate, said that Methodists generally did not know of the somewhat intimate relations between the present Royal Family and Methodism.

"King Edward VII was responsible for the building of two Methodist chapels on the estate," he said, "and he spent many a half-hour in the cottage of two humble stewards. One of them, 'Old John,' talked to him not about the estate but about the good of his soul, and King Edward listened appreciatively."

Mr. Horsley said:—"I am very pleased about the appointment. A diocese of the size of Colombo, which covers the whole island of Ceylon, needs a young and active man."

Mr. Horsley is not married.

£100 Dog Will Be Murder Witness

A pedigree dog was held in custody by New York police as an important witness in the murder of Charles Morris, racehorse owner, whose skeleton was found recently encased in a cement block in Connecticut River.

The dog, owned by a woman friend of John Paul Bathelet, husband of a New York heiress accused of the murder will be introduced in evidence to prove a link between Bathelet and the dead man.

It is alleged it was sold as a puppy to Charles Morris, a cheque paying for it was allegedly signed by Morris, but it was made out by Bathelet. According to the police Bathelet later gained possession of the dog and offered to sell it for $100.

VILLAGE ON FIRE

Tokyo, July 26.

An unconfirmed dispatch to the Nichi Nichi Shimbun says that three hundred Soviet troops landed from four gunboats on the Manchukuo side of the Ussuri River on July 22 and set fire to Yanlitz village.

The dispatch adds that Manchukuo frontier guards engaged the Soviet troops and repulsed them after five hours of fighting. Casualties were not mentioned.—(Reuter).

THEY NEVER COMEBACK HOLDS TRUE IN RING

Schmeling The Fifth Man To Meet Failure

Down through the years, from the night of May 11, 1900, when Jim Corbett tried the first great "comeback," heavyweight champions—with high hopes and stout hearts as their major weapons—have tried to regain boxing's most prized crown.

All of them failed—some long before they even got a chance to fight again for the crown; others when victory seemed only seconds away.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, the San Francisco bank clerk and first of the fancy dan boxers, twice tried to win back the title and was defeated. "Ruby Bob" Fitzsimmons, Jun. Jeffries, the "Big Boiler-Maker," and Jack Dempsey, the ring's great "killer"—all first had to be convinced in a prize-ring before they'd accept as truth the tradition that "they never come back."

There were others too—Jack Sharkey, Jess Willard, Primo Carnera and Jack Johnson—who tried to march again up the long, hard road to the title. But they were convinced it was a futile job long before they reached the final step.

Corbett made the first comeback attempt on the night of May 11, 1900, at the old seaside Athletic Club in Coney Island against Jim Jeffries who had won the title from Bob Fitzsimmons. Corbett had lost the championship to "Fitz" on March 17, 1897.

CORBETT FAILS

The first Corbett-Jeffries fight was scheduled for 25 rounds. For 22 rounds Corbett outboxed the heavier Jeffries. In the 23rd round it looked as if Corbett would get the decision. But, with victory in his grasp, Corbett ran into a wild left hook which landed on his chin and put him out.

On July 25, 1902, in San Francisco, Fitzsimmons tried a comeback against Jeffries. The bout was held in a circus tent before a crowd of 10,000 and Fitzsimmons led for seven rounds and he looked like the winner. But again Jeffries rallied, brought home a left to the liver in the eighth round and ended the second of the ring's great comebacks.

Corbett, who had retired, began to dream about winning back the

FINLAND'S PLANS FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

Helsingfors, July 26.

Erich von Frenckell, the well-known Finnish sports leader, in a conversation with press representatives yesterday, explained the probable arrangements that would be made for holding the Olympic Games in the summer of 1940.

Frenckell declared that the games would take place between July 8 and 20 and that handball, hockey and basketball and polo would be omitted from the programme.

Invitations to participate in the Olympiad are to be sent out next September, by which time the Finnish parliament would have arrived at its final decisions about the games. The partly finished stadium in Helsingfors would be enlarged to enable 52,000 spectators to be accommodated.

SWIMMING POOL

The construction of a large swimming pool is envisaged. Every effort would be made to provide facilities for the 450 press representatives expected to attend. Furthermore in the near future a new cable from Helsingfors, Stockholm with 24 telephone lines will be ready.

THREE MATCHES CONCLUDED

County Cricket Championship

London, July 26.

Three County Cricket Championship matches finished yesterday, having taken only two days to complete.

At Hove, Lancashire defeated Sussex by an innings and five runs.

Sussex scored 195 (Wilkinson 4 for 18) and 212 (Wilkinson 4 for 51), while Lancashire made 413 for nine wickets declared. Washbrook hit up 135 and Iddon 95.

GLAMORGAN v. WARWICKSHIRE

Glamorgan scored 170 and 114 (Hollies 6 for 34), and Warwickshire made 178 and 107 for two wickets.

KENT v. MIDDLESEX

At Maidstone, Kent defeated Middlesex by 265 runs.

Kent totalled 216 in their first innings despite the fine bowling of Gray who captured eight wickets for 59 runs.

In reply, Middlesex scored only 159, Watt taking seven for 55.

Battling a second time, Kent made 333, of which A. Fagg claimed 108. Middlesex were then put out for 125, Watt again taking seven wickets, this time for only 35 runs.

ONLY A MISSED CATCH

But What It Meant To Ken Farnes

Kenneth Farnes, the Essex bowler, was definitely unlucky to miss a hat-trick in the Second Test at Lord's when Compton failed to take a catch from Fleetwood-Smith.

If Compton had only taken that catch Farnes would have joined a very select band who have achieved this honour.

The last bowler to perform the "hat-trick" in a Test was Hugh Trumble, the Australian, who 34 years ago achieved the distinction for the second time.

The "hat-trick" has been performed only on six occasions in Tests, twice by Trumble and once by Spofforth, of Australia, and Bate, Briggs and J. T. Hearne, of England.

Only once, however, has the "hat-trick" been performed in England. This was by J. T. Hearne, in 1899, at Leeds.

In one of the Triangular Tests, Australia vs. South Africa, at Manchester in 1912, T. J. Matthews (Australia) did the hat-trick in each innings—a feat without parallel in Test cricket.

SHUNS RECORD

John Wilson of Yancey County killed 113 bears in hunts at Mt. Mitchell and then quit the sport because he didn't want to equal the record set by his father, who bagged 114 bruins in his life-time.

LAWN BOWLS INTERPORT

The announcement that the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association has accepted an invitation to send a team to Hong Kong for the Interport must come as very pleasant news to all followers of the game in view of the fact that no such contest has been held since 1936 when a Hong Kong team visited Shanghai.

The Shanghai team is due to arrive here by the R.M.S. Empress of Canada on October 5.

U.S. BASEBALL RESULTS

New York, July 26.

Only one double-header in the American Baseball League was played yesterday, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox sharing the spoils.

The double-header between Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics was postponed. No other matches were scheduled.—(Reuters).

FIVE-DAY TEST MATCHES FOR NEXT TOUR?

Lord Hawke Not Sure How Public Will React

The next series of Test matches in England, due to be played in four years' time, will probably be five-day games instead of four-day as at present—following a proposal put forward by R. E. S. Wyatt, the former England captain.

Lord Hawke, the "Grand Old Man of Cricket" who is the treasurer and a trustee of the M.C.C., governing body of the game, stated:—

"I think it quite likely that the five-day game will be introduced for the next series of Test matches. Anyhow, I expect it will come eventually."

"It seems a pity that the game cannot be finished in four. And I don't know whether the public really want the games to last for such a long time."

It is stated that members of the Control Board which regulate the Test matches in England, are already informally discussing the question of introducing five-day matches for the next series.

There is no question whatever of making any alterations in the programme for the Test matches this year.

FOOTBALL COUNCIL MEETING

A meeting of the Council of the Hong Kong Football Association will be held in the Board Room of the South China Morning Post on Tuesday, August 8, at 5.30 p.m.

Business on the agenda includes the election of an Hon. Secretary and the Interport match with Shanghai.

Mr. H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, the former England player, President of the Surrey Cricket Club and a member of the M.C.C. Committee, said:

"On paper the five-days match means that there would be fewer draws, but it might mean that the games were slowed up. After all, if a team scores 400 in a four-days match—as England did at Nottingham—it might score 1,000 in a five-days match."

"Would 30,000 people want to watch this? Might not the game be made duller?"

"Another consideration is whether the general public could afford to spare 3s. a day for five days, let alone whether they could spare the time."

Maurice Tate, the great bowling veteran of many Test matches, said:—"I think five-days Test Matches will come."

Generalissimo Aims At Reconquering Shansi

Tokyo, July 26.
Extensive troop movements on the Chinese side, are now going on, according to Japanese reports received here.
Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is said to have assembled about 200,000 men on the western part of the Lunghai Railway, in the sector between Chengchow and Tungkuang.
It is assumed that the Chinese plan of operations aims first and foremost at securing the Lunghai Railway and at re-conquering southern Shansi.

Japanese troops in this part of country have come into contact with strong masses of Chinese troops, above all at Tungkuang, Lo-yang and other points on the Yellow River.

Further reports state that Generalissimo Chiang has brought a considerable number of troops from the provinces into movement in the direction of Hankow, while a large part of the Central Army, in the event of the fall of Hankow, is to protect the Southwest Provinces, namely, Szechuen, Hunan, Kwangsi and Yunnan.—(Transocean).

JAPANESE WITHDRAWAL

Shanghai, July 26.
Foreign observers here are paying special attention to the situation on the Shansi front.
According to Chinese reports, the Japanese have virtually withdrawn all troops from the southern front and refuse to make any comment on these reports.
The Japanese, it is believed, will possibly try to hold the larger cities and maintain railway communications in the province.
The Manchurian units on the Yangtze front, which were ordered to return in connection with the incidents on the Soviet-Manchukuo border, will, it is now asserted, return to the Yangtze front and the troops withdrawn from the Shansi front will relieve them in Manchukuo.—(Transocean).
